Is this ultimately what we do as coaches and school masters?

---

After coaching his team in the college football national championship game, Amos Alonzo Stagg was asked, "What do you think of your team?"

He responded, "I'll let you know in 20 years." He knew that his greatest victories as a coach of young people had very little to do with a scoreboard and much more to do with the impact he would have on the rest of their lives.
